

TORTIE HOARE

LONDON

FOUNDED BY TORTIE IN 2010

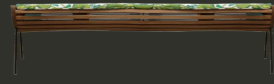

Tortie Hoare delivers exclusive, high quality furniture handmade in Britain. Each individual piece is carefully crafted with elegance and sustainability at the forefront of design. Many items in the current range use a technique called 'cuir bouilli' to mould the leather removing the need for resins and plastics.

Cuir bouilli was commonly used to make medieval armour before steel. Combining old techniques with contemporary design creates a unique new range of furniture. As a highly skilled cabinet maker, Tortie also works closely with local craftsmen giving her a thorough understanding of materials, and a strong approach to design for both her bespoke work and current range.

Each design is the result of the rigorous investigation of leather molding, resulting in timeless products of the highest quality and functionality, enriching the beauty that is held in the natural materials being used.
